The Yellow Wagtail (Motacilla rail) is one of the British members of the Motacillidæ family which is represented all over the world. Its nest is made of moss, dry grass and roots, and placed in a hole in a bank, wall or tree. The Iris (Flower-de-luce) is a widely diffused species of plant of the natural order Irideæ found all over the Northern Hemisphere, its bloom being of varying colours and most beautiful form.

Dear Mrs Knagg
Thank you very much for the
